Report for COAD, October 9, 2018

Currently VIND has reached out to the most severely impacted of those who failed the income test and were either uninsured or underinsured totaling over 15,000 registrants. VIND has recently begun calling persons who were offered by FEMA to apply for the Small Business Loan and either failed to apply or were denied for one reason or another. This list totals just over 14,400 registrants.

VIND currently has 71 homes waiting for repair/rebuild services and funding. There are approximately 120 mobile home owners needing either repair/rebuild or another alternative where most of the mobile homes are 30 to 40 years old and it would not be cost effective to repair the mobile home. VIND anticipates between 300 to 350 mobile homes that will need repair/replacement.

VIND has partnered with many agencies in order to provide services to our clients.

We are working with Volusia County in their move to get Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) money to repair or replace mobile homes with modular homes.

We are in the process of developing a partnership with Rebuild Florida and their CDBG-DR (Community Development Block Grant – Disaster Recovery) which includes assistance for home owners, rental properties and mobile homes.

We are working with Red Cross who is, for the first time, working with long term recovery needs. They are targeting those homes that were determined by FEMA to be major/destroyed properties. VIND obtains and verifies the information and enters the clients documents into CAN (Coordinated Assistance Network). Coordinated Assistance Network (CAN) is used universally to prevent duplication of services. Red Cross is in the process of approving a "complex needs" program to assist those who were affected by Hurricane Irma.

Together WE ALL CAN CONTINUE TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE. Week of Compassion donations have allowed VIND to continue service to 9 repair / rebuild projects, overhead to ensure the operations of VINDs info structure remains intact, and outreach services to ensure the public and other contributors remain aware that VIND is here and is working hard to maintain the stability of Volusia County's home owners.

Together we have hosted two AmeriCorps Teams as well as almost weekly volunteer teams from across the United States. VINDs primary Volunteer Housing Facility is located at the United Church of Christ in Holly Hill. This facility can house up to 24 persons and is fully equipped with all the amenities to include showers, bunk beds, and full kitchen privileges.

In the long-term aspect of recovery, VIND expects to be assisting Volusia County for the next two years with recovery efforts, barring there are no further disasters.

We, at VIND thank you all for your continued support and dedication to our mission.
